How we collect your information

THH collects information from you through a variety of sources including when you sign a tenancy agreement or purchase a lease, complete one of our forms, or when you call, write, email or meet us, respond to a survey or register for MyTHH, our self-service portal. We may also collect information when you use our social media sites or websites.

We record some telephone calls to support staff training and for monitoring purposes. Our call recordings are usually held for a period of 12 months unless we need to keep a copy for a specific purpose; once the recording is no longer needed we will delete any and all copies made. Email correspondence may be kept as a record of contact.

CCTV is installed on some of our estates, they are fitted to monitor building security and for crime prevention and detection. The main estate based CCTV is operated by Tower Hamlets Council for us and the images are stored by them. From time to time we may operate CCTV/sound recording and/or use photography to capture evidence of breach of tenancy, alleged anti-social behaviour or crime. We will not hold images for longer than necessary and will dispose of them securely.

We also hold information about our employees, including prospective, current and former employees. If you are applying for a job with THH you should read the Recruitment Privacy Notice on our recruitment portal.

How we use this information

We collect and process your information so we can deliver effective housing services, statutory and otherwise. We do not want to be intrusive and will only collect the necessary information needed to effectively and efficiently run our services. The information you provide will not be seen by, accessed by or disclosed to anyone who shouldn't see it. Unless specifically advised otherwise, we will only collect and process your information in order to carry out these functions:

- Managing your tenancy or lease and the London Borough of Tower Hamlets or Tower Hamlets Homes property it relates to
- Property and estates maintenance and repair
- Managing parking and other facilities on our estates
- Adaptations to the properties we manage
- Selling properties through the Right to Buy
- Delivering support to you or any member of your household within an agreed support plan
- Collecting information in order to monitor our performance
- Administering community grants
- Providing associated welfare benefits and debt advice, services and support
- Maintaining our accounts and records
- Recruiting, supporting and managing our board, employees, agents and contractors
- Promoting the services we provide
- Carrying out surveys and conducting research
- Local fraud initiatives
- Organising and assisting community events
- Offering opportunities to be involved
- Corporate administration and all activities we are required to carry out as a data controller
- Ensuring we meet our legal obligations

We use automated processes to calculate the rents, service charges and major works bills for the properties we manage, and to initiate contact with tenants and leaseholders who have fallen into arrears on their rent or service charge accounts. We also use information about our residents and properties to inform strategic decision making through the preparation of block, estate or neighbourhood profiles.

How we use information about children

THH does not normally process children's information as part of a tenancy or lease, as all tenants or leaseholders are adults. However, we record children's basic information if they are resident in one of our properties, including their name and date of birth. This is required to check the property is not overcrowded and to assess other tenancy management issues where all householders and ages are required to be known. We may receive children's information if we are involved in the housing and tenancy aspects of a welfare case as part of a multi-agency working solution.

How we communicate with you

THH needs to communicate with our customers and this will usually be in writing or by telephone, although we are increasingly using electronic and paperless means to do so. We are planning to move more of our services online as this is usually more convenient for you and more efficient for us. Our secure online service is called MyTHH.

If you use the MyTHH service it is important that you keep your password secure and do not share your account details with any other person. The privacy of your information, as with any on-line service, depends on you keeping your login credentials to yourself, as well as setting a suitably complex password. MyTHH accounts are unique to each person so where there are joint tenants or leaseholders each party may have their own MyTHH account.

We deliver a copy of our regular newsletter, Open Door, to every property we manage in order to keep residents informed about our services and aware of opportunities for involvement. We also offer residents the opportunity to receive other communications electronically should you so choose; you may also withdraw your consent to receive these additional electronic communications at any time.

We will only discuss or communicate your tenancy or lease details with those named on the agreement or those authorised (temporarily or permanently) by you. You can authorise someone temporarily verbally over the phone or permanently in writing.

Who we share data with

From time to time we may need to provide or obtain personal information relating to you or members of your household from third parties. However, this will only happen so we can achieve the purposes detailed above and deliver the best possible services to you.

THH shares limited personal information with our contractors who are carrying out services on our behalf. Our contractors are required to comply with the law and our own data protection contract clauses to ensure data is managed appropriately and for specified purposes; these include running our out-of-hours telephone service or to complete emergency, responsive or planned property repairs.

THH has a duty to protect public funds and may use personal information and data-matching techniques to detect and prevent fraud, and ensure public money is targeted and spent in the most appropriate and cost-effective way. Information may be shared internally and with Tower Hamlets Council, government departments, such as the Department for Work and Pensions, other local authorities and registered social landlords, utility companies, and the Police where we are legally allowed to do so.

We may need to share information with solicitors, agents, court agents, surveyors and valuers in relation to a property sale. We try to deal with instances of rent or service charge arrears without the involvement of third parties however, in some cases of unresolved arrears and cases where arrears remain outstanding after the termination of a tenancy agreement we may disclose personal details to tracing and/or debt collection agencies.

How we store information

We take our responsibilities under the GDPR very seriously and will adopt and maintain high standards in respect of handling personal information. Your personal information will only be collected if it is necessary and proportionate to do so. We have a number of policies and procedures in place to ensure your data is kept secure and safe. Methods such as encryption, access controls and staff security training are all designed to ensure that your data are only made available to those who have a right to see them.

The law prohibits organisations from processing data outside the European Economic Area (EEA) and THH abides by this.

We will only hold your information for as long as is required by law to provide you with the necessary services. We follow the local government recommend guidelines around retention periods. For example, information relating to a tenancy agreement will be kept for as long as the agreement is active or where money is owed on the account, and for a period not exceeding six years afterwards. We have been reviewing our Retention and Disposal Schedule and the functionality of our IT systems and will be implementing full disposal regimes as part of our regular system upgrades.
